Open to everyone, not just members. EFMP is a military program that identifies active duty military families with a member who has special medical needs and/or special education needs. The program seeks to ensure that there are suitable services available for family members within their region and assist the service member in identifying available services at their next assignment, confirm the availability of medical and educational support at overseas locations, and identify the need for assignment within major medical areas. For more information about EFMP, contact your nearest military facility and ask for the EFMP coordinator.
