www.disasterassistance.gov

Provide disaster survivors with information, support, services, and a means to access and apply for disaster assistance through joint data-sharing efforts between federal, tribal, state, local, and private sector partners. Site allows you to: find disaster assistance that meets your personal needs; learn about more than 70 forms of assistance from 17 federal agencies; apply for disaster assistance and reduce the number of forms you have to fill out; check the status of your application; find a FEMA Disaster Recovery Center (DRC) near you; find a hotel or a new place to live; find programs to help with food and nutrition needs; change the address for your Social Security, VA, or other federal benefits; and learn about Small Business Administration (SBA) loans for homeowners, renters, and businesses. The site can also help you learn how to prepare for, respond to, and recover from disasters. You can learn to deal with immediate needs, like how to: evacuate or shelter in place; find emergency shelter; get food and water; handle emergency medical situations until help arrives; and find family, friends, and even lost pets.

Support citizens and first responders to ensure that as a nation we work together to build, sustain and improve their capability to prepare for, protect against, respond to, recover from and mitigate all hazards. Each FEMA Region is staffed with a Regional Disability Integration Specialist who provide guidance, training, and tools for facilitating disability-inclusive emergency preparedness, response, recovery and mitigation. Regional Disability Integration Specialists work closely with the states to ensure that their disaster planning is inclusive of people with disabilities and others with access and functional needs. Simultaneously, they work with local nonprofit disability groups to reach the disability community encouraging them to participate in federal, state, local, and community emergency planning meetings. Provide assistive devices in our disaster recovery centers to fully accommodate disaster survivors with disabilities as they apply for disaster assistance.
