Enforcement for parking violations on private property is restricted to properly erected signage only for disabled parking and fire lanes. If a vehicle is left in a disabled parking space for an extended period, over 48 hours, then this office can be contacted by a property representative to have the vehicle towed. This office would have the property representative fill out a consent form for removal of the vehicle. Usually, the property owner incurs the cost of the tow, normally $75 to $100. However, if the vehicle is in a properly marked parking space designated for a disabled person, then that fee can be waived.
