Volunteer to Help Area Youth Achieve Their Goals!

Montgomery County has many appealing opportunities for adults to become volunteer tutors and mentors to local youth. Such intergenerational volunteering is rewarding for students and volunteers alike. Additionally, there are plenty of other local volunteer opportunities for people age 50+.

JCA Heyman Interages

JCA Heyman Interages® Center offers several high-impact volunteer programs that engage people age 50+ to help youth, ages 3 to 18, succeed in academics and build self-confidence. JCA Heyman Interages volunteers can make a difference in as little as one hour a week, or can choose to give more time. JCA provides training and ongoing support, and works with interested volunteers to find an opportunity that fits their interests, skills and schedule. To learn more, contact JCA at 301-949-3551 or Interages@AccessJCA.org

JA Finance Park

Since 2011, more than 90,000 middle-school students in Montgomery County Public Schools have learned personal finance skills in the classroom through Junior Achievement (JA). More volunteers are being recruited because the program is transitioning into a JA Finance Park learning facility at Thomas Edison High School for Technology.

At JA Finance Park, students become "adults" for the day with a career, salary, credit score and financial obligations to balance. Volunteers are needed to guide students through budgeting considerations during the simulation. To learn more, contact Matt Roller at matthew.roller@ja.org connects County residents age 50 and up with meaningful volunteer opportunities that leverage your lifetime of professional skills and personal experience to help others. Volunteer options include projects coordinated through Senior Corps RSVP. To learn more, contact 50plus@montgomerycountymd.gov or call 240-777-2600.
