MONTGOMERY COUNTY
Council’s Summer Fellows Program

Summer 2022: June 6, 2022–August 12, 2022
Why Be a Fellow?

The Montgomery County Council’s 10-week Summer Fellows Program is a unique opportunity that enables policy-focused graduate students to gain real-world local government experience across multiple sectors and issue areas.

The program is a collaboration among 4 independent organizations:

- Montgomery County Council
- Office of Legislative Oversight
- Montgomery County Economic Development Corporation
- Montgomery County Executive Branch

The alliance provides multiple points of access to innovative leaders who are shaping the future of Montgomery County in new and exciting ways. It also enables participants to build an experience that is specifically tailored to their field of study.

Direct Interactions: Summer Fellows will work directly with decision makers on ongoing projects and policy analyses in a variety of policy fields. Participants can expect to interact with elected officials, senior management staff and, depending on placement, local civic organizations, advocacy groups and business leaders.

Real Impacts: Our Fellows will also have the opportunity to write and present on a self-selected research project to the County Council. Councilmembers have used the policy analyses and recommendations from the reports to directly impact local and state legislation and policy-decisions.

Skill Development: Summer Fellows will have the opportunity to develop a variety of skills including writing, quantitative and qualitative research, project management, data analysis, implementation review, process development, public speaking, presentations and more.

Exploration: The Fellows also participate in field trips throughout the summer where they learn about some of the County’s most innovative programs and meet inspirational leaders.

Compensation: An $8,000 stipend for the 10-week program.

About Montgomery County, MD

Montgomery County, MD is one of the most diverse and well-educated counties in the U.S., home to over 1.1 million people and 4 of the most diverse cities in the nation. While we neighbor bustling Washington D.C., our geographic diversity is extensive too with urban cities, suburban and urban neighborhoods, and a 93,000-acre Agricultural Reserve filled with rural farmland. The County is also the epicenter for biotechnology in the Mid-Atlantic region with the nation’s third largest biotechnology cluster. Due to the proximity to our nation’s capital, the County also hosts several federal agencies such as the National Institutes of Health (NIH), the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST), and the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Montgomery County Public Schools is continually ranked among the top performing school districts in the country and Montgomery Community College has been ranked as the best 2-year college in the state. Visit this webpage to learn more about our County.

You will be able to explore the County and Washington, D.C. region through weekly field trips!
Council Members

As part of the Washington metropolitan area, Montgomery County, Maryland has one of the nation’s most progressive governments. Many programs and local laws originally implemented in Montgomery County have served as models for other jurisdictions.

Visit our homepage for more information on the County Council.

Weekly meetings with Councilmembers, Council staff, and community leaders allows you the opportunity to ask important questions directly to the decision makers!
About Our Cohorts

Our program brings in graduate students from the Washington, D.C. area and beyond with a majority of our Fellows coming from schools outside of the D.C. region. Graduate students studying public policy, public administration/affairs, public health, planning, law or related fields are invited to apply.

Independent Research Projects

Typically, Fellows work on a mix of short-term and long-term policy analysis focused projects throughout the summer. However, a key part of our Summer Fellows program is the opportunity for each Fellow to self-select a research paper topic to write and present to the Montgomery County Council. These reports have served as the basis for real policy actions implemented in the County and State.

The collection of reports can be found on our website. Check out some of the broad topics selected by our prior Fellows below.

General research topics by our cohorts

- Educational Equity
- Racial Equity & Social Justice
- Pay and Wage Analysis
- Senior Care
- Criminal Justice
- Transportation
- Environment
