

My name is Njandee Murangi, I am fifteen years old and I have been playing softball since I was seven. I am from Silver Spring. Playing softball for the better part of my life, has been the most important factor in making me who I am. I'm a better team player for it. There's something really special about feeling wins and losses with others. I also coached an eight and under team for one season. Seeing those girls work together as a team and learn was one of the most rewarding experiences of my life. They went from twelve individuals, to a team.
