

Margaret Dennis
POTOMAC, MD

The more we, the voters and taxpayers, learn about data centers, the more we believe that they should be approved and built only after careful study and analysis. A moratorium will provide time to set up reasonable regulations and reassure us that nothing will be approved that will rob the Potomac River of water needed for residents of the DMV, cause our electric bills to rise dramatically and blanket the surrounding communities with noise, and decrease property values.