We need to slow this down. A frenzy of data center development, without clarity about their effects on County residents and the County environment, is deeply misguided. It's highly questionable if they will bring substantial long-term employment, whether they will in fact be needed in the long-term, and what their impacts will be on the voters. If data centers are right for Montgomery County now, they will be right for the county in 6-12 months when a transparent public process has made a full accounting of where and how data centers can be sited to complement the county's goals - and the biggest question - who pays and in what ways? Good leadership proceeds carefully and in collaboration. Thank you.
