

Concerned about Friendship Heights/Chevy Chase Transportation Issues?

County Executive Isiah Leggett is seeking applicants to fill vacancies on the Friendship Heights Transportation Management District Advisory Committee

Transportation issues can have a tremendous impact on living, working and doing business in Friendship Heights. The Friendship Heights Transportation Management District Advisory Committee, a 14-member business, community group and resident advisory panel, meets monthly to discuss transportation issues affecting the Central Business District (CBD). The Advisory Committee monitors employer transportation plans, proposes guidelines for lessening traffic, reviews traffic patterns and makes recommendations on commuting, pedestrian safety, parking and other related matters.

Meetings are held on the second Tuesday of each month at the Wisconsin Place Community Community Center in Chevy Chase, 8:30 a.m. to 10:00 a.m.
