4.1 Electioneering

Electioneering is any activity that supports an election campaign. Electioneering is illegal in the polling place. It is also illegal anywhere within 25 to 100 feet of the entrance (depending on the site) and exit to the polling place. This is called the “No Electioneering Zone.” No electioneering or political activity may take place within the “No Electioneering Zone.” No campaign materials may be posted or handed out in this zone.

Election judges are not allowed to show support or oppose any campaign or political party while working at the polling place. You may not wear or display any political material. You may not share any political opinions while you are in the polling place or while performing the duties of an election judge.

“Electioneering” includes wearing clothing that supports or opposes a candidate, ballot issue, or political party.

Voters are allowed to wear clothing, buttons, or other items with a political message while they are voting. Voters who are wearing political messages are not allowed to linger in the polling place or within the “No Electioneering Zone” after voting.

All day, you should keep an eye on the activity outside the polling place. Tell anyone who is campaigning within the “No Electioneering Zone” to stay outside the marked boundary. If anyone refuses to stay outside the marked boundary, chief judges must call local law enforcement. Ask law officers to remove the person from the property. If voters leave political materials in the polling place, election judges must remove the materials right away.

Lawn signs or other campaign speech that is on private property are legal even inside the “No Electioneering” zone. However, sometimes the election judge or the local board of elections can show a reason why materials need to be removed in order to prevent voter confusion, harassment, or intimidation. Election judges may ask property owners to move their campaign signs to areas beyond the “No Electioneering” zone. If property owners do not agree, tell the local board of elections.

4.2 People and Activities in the Polling Place
4.2 Exit Polling
Organizations and individuals sometimes do “exit polling” to ask about how people voted. Exit polling is allowed within the “No Electioneering Zone” as long as the chief judges agree.

Persons conducting exit polling must:

- Stay outside the polling room.
- Not ask questions until after the voter has voted and left the polling room.
- Tell voters that they do not have to answer the questions.
- Not campaign within the “No Electioneering Zone.”

Chief judges should try to allow exit polling. However, chief judges must also maintain order in and around the polling place. They may have to limit activities that cause delays or interruptions. Chief judges may choose an area for exit polling outside the polling room. They may also limit the number of people for each organization, or they may limit the number of groups polling.

4.3 Challengers and Watchers
Maryland law allows selected individuals to serve as challengers and watchers. Challengers and watchers represent candidates and political parties, or can support or oppose ballot issues. Official challengers and watchers are election observers who are allowed to observe all election day activities in the polling place.

To be an official challenger and watcher, a person must have a certificate filled out by any of the following:

- The State Board of Elections
- A local board of elections

If you have any questions, ask the chief judges.
• A candidate (including filed write-in candidates)

• A political party

• Any other group of voters supporting or opposing a candidate, principle, or proposition on the ballot

Challengers and watchers have the right to:

• Challenge a voter’s identity.

• Be in the polling room at least 1/2 hour before the polls open.

• Be in the polling room at any time when the polls are open.

• Be in the polling room during all the work of closing the polls. However, challengers and watchers must be inside the polling room before the polls close.

• Make a list of registered voters who have voted or individuals who have cast provisional ballots. They can take this list outside of the polling place.

• Stand where they can see and hear each voter as the voter checks in to vote. They should also be able to see the activities in the polling room. The chief judges will decide where challengers and watchers will stand. Chief judges do not have to put challengers and watchers right behind the check-in table. Challengers and watchers do not have to be able to see the screen of the electronic pollbooks.

• During the day, challengers and watchers may ask:

  o One of the chief judges to go with him or her to a scanning unit to check the tamper tape and see the public counter. They can only go near the scanning unit when it is not being used.

  o One of the check-in judges to allow him or her to see the number of voters who have been checked in to vote. This number is at the bottom center of the “Find Voters” screen of the electronic pollbook.

4.4 People and Activities in the Polling Place
Except as described above, a challenger and watcher may not move about the polling place during voting hours. A challenger and watcher who wants to talk with a voter must do so outside the polling place and outside the “No Electioneering Zone.”

In addition, a challenger and watcher cannot attempt to:

- Find out how a voter voted or intends to vote.
- Talk with any voter in the polling room.
- Help any voter with voting.
- Interfere with the election process.
- Keep any voter from talking to an election judge.
- Physically touch an original election document.
- Use a cell phone, laptop, pager, or other electronic device in the polling place.

If the polling place is very busy, chief judges are allowed to ask challengers and watchers to wait. Chief judges should let challengers and watchers look at the scanning unit or electronic pollbook when the polling place is less busy.

If challengers and watchers would keep the polling place from opening on time, the chief judges may ask the challengers and watchers to leave. More than half of the election judges at the polling place must agree.

Chief judges may remove any challenger or watcher who does not obey the rules listed above. Chief judges may also remove any challenger or watcher who interferes with the election judge’s work or who does not obey an order from an election judge.
The right of a person to vote may ONLY be challenged on the grounds of identity. The challenge must be made before the person is given a voter authority card, a ballot, or a ballot activation card.

4.4 Voter Identity Challenges

This is a chief judge function only. A chief judge must follow all procedures for challenging a voter’s identity.

The right of a person to vote may ONLY be challenged on the grounds of identity. The challenge must be made before the person is given a voter authority card, a ballot, or a ballot activation card.

Anyone, whether official or not, is allowed to enter the polling room for the sole purpose of challenging the identity of other people trying to vote. An unofficial challenger must follow the same rules as an official challenger,

4.6 People and Activities in the Polling Place
but a non-official challenger must leave the polling place as soon as the challenge is made. A majority of election judges may decide to limit the number of challengers in the polling place.

Election judges may also challenge the identity of a person trying to vote. If this happens, a chief judge must follow all the rules for challenging a voter’s identity. Election judges are not required to leave the polling place after a challenge.

If a voter’s identity is challenged:

1. Ask the voter for an acceptable form of ID.

   The following are acceptable forms of ID:
   o The person’s voter registration card
   o The person’s social security card
   o The person’s valid Maryland driver’s license or MVA ID Card
   o Any ID card issued by the federal, State, or local government
   o Any employee ID card that contains their photograph and is issued by the employer
   o A copy of a current bill, bank statement, government check, paycheck, or other government document that shows the name and current address

   The person’s social security card is an acceptable form of ID for a challenged voter. A social security card is not an acceptable form of ID for a voter whose “status” is “pending” (“Pend1” or “Pend2”) in the electronic pollbook.

2. If the voter presents an acceptable form of ID, tell the voter to return to the check-in line to continue the check-in process.

3. If the voter cannot present an acceptable form of ID:
   o The challenger and challenged voter must each complete their part of the Affidavit for Challenger & Challenged Voter form. The chief judge must watch the challenger and challenged voter sign the affidavit. The chief judge may provide extra information in Part III of the form.

People and Activities in the Polling Place 4.7

- Have the voter return to the check-in line to be checked in as a provisional voter. Use provisional reason code #8 (“Identity challenged and cannot provide acceptable form of ID”).

- Take the voter to the provisional ballot judge.

- Tell the provisional ballot judge to attach the Affidavit to the outside of the voter’s provisional ballot envelope.

4. If election judges believe a challenger or watcher is making challenges that are not supported by actual information about the voter’s identity, call the local board of elections office for help.

5. The chief judge should write the details of the challenge in the Election Day Log.

4.5 Individuals Dressed or Equipped as Officials

Special rules apply to people who are wearing clothes or equipment that make them appear as they are performing an official government function. No one can wear clothes or equipment that might give such an impression unless they actually have an official job in the election.

Clothes or equipment that may make someone appear they are performing an official government function include:

- Wearing a public or private law enforcement or security guard uniform.

- Wearing an armband.

- Carrying or displaying a gun or badge.

⚠️ There are exceptions. Law enforcement officers, military personnel, or security guards who are on duty, traveling to or from duty, or who are performing an official government function may vote while wearing a uniform and/or carrying or displaying a gun or badge.

4.8 People and Activities in the Polling Place
4.6 Polling Place Evaluators

The Maryland State Board of Elections or the local board of elections may send people to visit polling places without advance notice. These evaluators will check to see how well the election judges are following the rules. They will check the election judges’ general performance.

Evaluators use a Polling Place Evaluation Form when visiting polling places. During the visit, evaluators may speak with election judges and inspect reports. Evaluators are not allowed to slow down or interrupt the voting process.

⚠️ All visitors in the polling place must sign the Polling Room Sign-in Sheet.
