Snow Removal on Sidewalks, Parking Lots and Streets – Tommy Heyboer, Legislative Aide, Office of Councilmember Hans Riemer, Montgomery County Council

In 2001, former Councilmember Phil Andrews, introduced the Pedestrian Winter Safety Act that required residents to shovel their sidewalks within 24 hours after a snow event. In 2013, after a large snow event, Councilmember Hans Riemer witnessed extremely unsafe pedestrian activities due to sidewalks that were plowed in with snow. In 2014, Councilmember Riemer introduced legislation that would require the County Executive to develop a sidewalk snow removal plan. Since then, the Department of Transportation (DOT), has created a sidewalk inventory plan. All sidewalks were inventoried and a GIS digital map was created. Sidewalks were also identified as to whose responsibility it was to shovel. The County is responsible for 320 miles of sidewalk. Last year, DOT mobilized 11 times and cleared 50 miles of sidewalks. High pedestrian areas and bus stops were given high priority. Approximately 1,100 bus stops were shoveled last year. This year DOT will be clearing 320 miles of sidewalk and will be identifying higher priority pedestrian areas, bus stops, and transit and school routes. Specialized equipment has been purchased and more contractors have been hired. This is the first year there will be a large deployment of resources and there will be a few learning curves.

Councilmember Riemer will be introducing Bill 46-16 legislation on Tuesday, November 15th that would provide for higher penalties for violations of the law requiring removal of snow and ice on commercial property. The bill would raise the fine from $50.00 to $500.00 for commercial properties.

The floor was opened to questions.

A ‘snow event’ is a technical term for when DOT mobilizes their equipment. There are different levels of mobilization based on how much snow is anticipated. Most County employees are non-essential employees and are not required to work when a massive snow event occurs. DHCA inspectors are considered non-essential employees and are not available to give citations if the County government is closed. There has been discussion to have urban district workers, such as the Red Shirts in Silver Spring and the Bethesda Urban Partnership, report sidewalk snow violations. While DHCA is the only agency authorized to issue citations, other County agencies can file complaints.

Another issue that is being addressed is the dumping of snow in accessible parking spaces and access aisles.. The Pedestrian Winter Safety Act of 2001 established that property owners that obstruct designed disability parking spaces with snow or ice can be fined up to $100 for the first offense and $150 for subsequent offenses. There may be an issue of lack of enforcement or the level of fine is not sufficient enough to discourage the practice. Tommy will look into this issue.

The County has a robust public education campaign that starts at the beginning of the snow season. Last year the campaign was “Be A Good Neighbor” and postcards were sent to every resident. The County also included this campaign in their e-mail newsletters. Additional information is shared on social media and through the County emergency alert system. If there is a large snow event, the law allows for the County Executive to waive the 24-hour requirement. The waiver is based on the discretion of the County Executive and not by a set amount of snow.

Current law states that the owner of private property is responsible for the sidewalk adjacent to that property. There are certain routes in parts of the County that push large amounts of snow onto the sidewalk when plowed. It is not fair to force residents to clear large amounts of packed ice and snow. DOT has been asked to deploy resources to assist residents when these situations occur, but such a plan won't be available for the next few years.

The County's Wide Enough for Wheels campaign stated that the cleared pathway must be wide enough for safe pedestrian and wheelchair use (at least 36"). Cindy Buddington, Commissioner, asked if legislation states exactly how wide the pathway must be cleared. Tommy asked for recommendations from the Commission and will include the specifications in all educational materials. Nancy Greene, ADA Title II Compliance Manager, will send Tommy public right-of-way requirements.

Christopher Moy, Ex-Officio Member, asked if there was a way to have bus stops added to the priority list. Nancy said to contact Stacy Coletta at the Department of Transportation at 240-777-5836. She is in charge of the bus stop program.

It was suggested that a definition section be added to the bill for any language that is not referenced in other parts of the code. Any other suggestions can be sent to Tommy.

Seth Morgan, Chair, addressed the issue of parking lot safety. Tommy reported that the County is working on a Vision Zero campaign, which is an international movement to put an end to fatal traffic crashes that relies on data-driven approaches to improve the engineering of roads, to conduct targeted education and enforcement, and to change laws to improve driver behavior and increase penalties for dangerous conduct on the roads. Councilmember Riemer has discussed requiring vehicles to back into spaces, which requires more concentration and awareness from the driver.

If the resident does not clear the sidewalk after receiving the first $50.00 fine, they will receive a $50.00 fine every subsequent day that the sidewalk remains unshoveled.

The County educates the public of this legislation through mailers and it is included in all communications leading up to winter. The more groups and civic associations that can share this information, the better.

Hilary Kaplan, Commissioner, asked about storm drain signage. Tommy asked that Hilary contact him directly about this issue. She also asked that a provision be included in the legislation for residents that cannot shovel snow due to medical reasons, such as persons with disabilities or the elderly, as it creates an additional burden for them. Tommy will share this viewpoint with Councilmember Riemer. The City of Rockville has a volunteer program to assist those in need.

Individuals should contact 311 first to report an issue. If you do not feel the issue is being resolved, please contact Councilmember Riemer's office so they can assist.
