Head Start Program provides comprehensive, year-round, child and family development services to low-income families with children from birth to five years old. Parents are assisted with transitioning their children into Head Start or other preschool programs when the child reaches age three. Families are linked to community resources such as food, clothing, housing, child care, employment, English classes, health care and mental health counseling.

Lourie Center School serves children four to 12 years of age (including grades N4, kindergarten, and one to five) with emotional disabilities and/or multiple disabilities that interfere with learning, functioning and availability for learning in a typical classroom setting. The curriculum is based on a multidisciplinary approach to childhood education and the treatment of emotional disabilities. The school provides academic instruction, mental health and play therapy, speech and language therapy, and occupational therapy as well as psychiatric consultation as needed.

Therapeutic Nursery Program has two specialized preschools that address the needs of young children 3 and 4 years of age with emotional and behavioral problems that may interfere with success in a regular setting. The program addresses the needs of young children with emotional and behavioral problems that may interfere with success in a regular preschool or day care setting. Without intervention these difficulties and behaviors may place the child at risk for school failure. The program fosters appropriate social, intellectual, emotional, and physical growth in each child.

The Parent-Child Clinical Services Program is a licensed outpatient mental health clinic that offers a comprehensive approach to the early identification, treatment and prevention of emotional, behavioral and developmental problems in infants, young children and their families. Using a family-centered, developmental approach, the multidisciplinary staff members provide a wide range of assessment, treatment, consultation and training services to promote children's healthy development, enhance parenting capacities and foster positive parent-child relationships.

The transition services unit provides stakeholders with the necessary resources, tools, supports and professional development needed to ensure students a successful transition into further education, employment, and full participation in their community. Transition

Planning Process: Transition services are a student-centered planning process that is designed to meet the students educational, employment and independent living outcomes. These outcomes may include: postsecondary education; job training; employment (supported); continuing and adult education; adult services; and independent living. Community participation: A student's transition plan becomes a part of the Individualized Education Program (IEP) process beginning at age 14 or younger, if appropriate. Transition planning is a process that should include the following: identifying the student's post-high school goals; assessing the student's interests and abilities in relation to identified goals; determining courses, experiences, and programs that will prepare the student to reach his/her goals; supporting the student in transition-related activities; determining the student's anticipated adult service needs; and linking the student and parent with potential adult services. Students receive an array of services to help them attain their identified post-secondary outcomes and to prepare them to be college, career and community ready. These services may include, but are not limited to; career education, career exploration, social skills and self-advocacy instruction, career technology education, in-school and community work-based learning experiences, independent living skills instruction, and linkage to community agencies.
