

The Standby Guardianship Project

In May 2018, the Maryland legislature passed a new law that allows an undocumented parent to name someone they trust to care for their children for a period of six months if detained or deported. The purpose of the law was to prevent trauma for immigrant children and to have a legal path to avoid having children placed in the foster care system if their parents experience an adverse immigration action.

The TESS Center and the Standby Guardianship Project are partnering to have a pilot program to offer information about family safety planning and assist parents in completing the designation form.

STANDBY GUARDIANSHIP PROJECT

Free assistance for parents in danger of being detained, deported, or who have sudden health issues.

The TESS Community Action Center and the Standby Guardianship Project are partnering on a new initiative to help families develop safety plans.

Designate someone you trust to care for your children:

- Receive assistance in filling out a simple form available in several languages
- Give a person you trust authority to take care of your children if you have an emergency need
- Keep all your rights as a parent, and you can revoke the guardianship at any time

Every Monday, beginning November 4th, 2019; there will be free and confidential assistance at the TESS Center to help create family safety planning and complete the form. Appointments are available on Mondays from 9-11am and 1-4pm.

For information and appointments, call (240) 773-8260
