Montgomery County Code -- Art. VII, Section 24-56.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR, SAMANTHA DAVIS

It is with great enthusiasm that I greet you on behalf of the Victim Services Advisory Board (“Board”) We have worked tirelessly this year to advocate on the behalf of all Montgomery County’s victims and their families. A major part of this year’s work has been identifying ways to tackle the issue of bullying in schools and to serve as a voice for those who are often unheard or ignored. Additionally, we have worked on the issue of insuring that the resources available in Montgomery County are offered to any student in the public school system who reports that they have been victimized by a fellow student. With this in mind, we have remained vocal in our efforts to inform the County Council about the importance of improving the County’s reporting and referral mechanisms for the overall well-being and safety of each student residing in Montgomery County.

We will continue to make sure that these improvements are sustained, but as we enter the New Year we do so with many goals in mind. Chief among them is to make certain that all county offices and those within County Government maintain the resources necessary to serve the community. It is our strong belief that the positions currently held should be protected even in these tough economic times, because it is known that in such times there is increased need for these vital services and we cannot afford to under-fund or cut access to them.

Additionally, we will be working to assess each area where victims are helped, so that by this time next year, we will be able to give an even more accurate assessment of how those who give and receive services in this county view the resources being provided. We are truly a Board that can ably give advice on how our peers in the community should be served.

On behalf of the Board, I thank you for this opportunity to share our Report as we hope it will positively impact our community.

Sincerely,

Samantha Y. Davis, Chair

Victim Services Advisory Board

MAJOR ISSUES

Youth Victims Reporting Outreach

In 2007, the Board became aware that Montgomery County Public Schools (MCPS) does not identify students as either "aggressor" or "victim" in their database when tracking and reporting disciplinary issues among students. The MCPS system does not make this distinction even when one student's actions can be identified as "aggressive" or "predatory" such as in cases of bullying, stalking or other instances that have an identified perpetrator and an identified victim of crime.

The Board's goal in working with MCPS is to provide better services to youth victims by helping service providers target their programming to meet the needs of youth victims and to be able to better educate victims and their families of available resources. We met with MCPS on several occasions to encourage the school system to begin tracking and reporting youth victims attending MCPS. After many unsuccessful attempts to get MCPS to cooperate with this initiative, the Board sought the assistance of the County Council. During 2007 and 2008, Board members met with each Council representative and asked that they support our efforts. As a result of these meetings, the Board received overwhelming support from the County Council. The late Honorable Marilyn Praisner, on behalf of the County Council wrote a letter of support for the Board's efforts, and strongly encouraged MCPS to cooperate with our recommendations. While MCPS has yet to begin tracking and reporting youth victims, the Board will continue our work in the upcoming year. We look forward to meeting with Stephen Zagami, the MCPS Director of the Department of Student Services, to seek support to systematically track and report youth victims in Montgomery County Public Schools.

Outreach to Crime Victims in Public Schools

In 2008, a priority for the Board was the issue of bullying among our younger school population. Recognizing that bullying in schools is a nationwide problem that can have negative consequences for not only the student victim(s) involved, but for the school and community as a whole. In 2008 the Board worked toward developing an educational outreach and awareness messaging campaign geared toward students in Montgomery County schools to inform them of the many services available for victims of bullying, abuse, sexual assault, and other crimes.

Understanding that that bullying affects more than 5 million students in grades 6 through 11 the Board sought to focus on school-aged children between grades six and eight. In doing so, the Board identified 30,000 public middle school students as a target audience to provide information about the victims' services available to them in Montgomery County. Our goal is to create a visual messaging piece – such as a poster – that could deliver the message in a simple and youth-appealing manner. The Board invested considerable time examining this issue and received information from various interested allies. The project involved partnering with the Montgomery County Police Department to write a grant proposal to provide school materials with effective messaging to help counter bullying and provide information on how to obtain services for victims.

The Board formed a subcommittee that then examined multiple avenues including potential funders and project partners from the public and private sectors. During the planning phase of the marketing and outreach project on bullying, the subcommittee members met with representatives from the Youth Services Department of the YMCA. The YMCA agreed to work with the Board on the anti-bullying campaign targeting Montgomery County Public Schools (MCPS). YMCA, once funding for the project is secured, agreed to help design the media kit with the assistance of MCPS students who are participants in their after school programs. YMCA also agreed to partner with the Board on educating students and teachers on how to address bullying and how to effectively identify and provide resources to the targeted audience.

However, due to the current status of the economy and its affect on overall spending, the Board has agreed to defer this project until 2009 when the improved budget forecasts would enable better support for Montgomery County citizens who are the victims of such

INVESTIGATION OF DELAY IN PROCESSING CLAIMS WITH CICB

Late in 2008, it came to the attention of the Board that there has been a substantial setback in the processing of claims to the Criminal Injuries Compensation Board (CICB) that impacts only victims living in, or who were victimized while visiting, Montgomery County. It is the Board's understanding that victims have been complaining, not only to CICB staff but also to those advocates who assist them in Montgomery County, that their calls to determine the status of their claims have not been returned, and their claims have not been paid. Victim advocates throughout Montgomery County also voice the same frustration that they have tried, some since March, 2008, to verify the status of cases and their repeated calls are rarely returned.

Board Chair, Samantha Davis, wrote to Mrs. Shirley Haas, Victims' Rights Compliance Coordinator within the Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention office, to request her immediate investigation of these situations, and then provide the Board with her report about why these claims have been ignored/mis-handled, with her office's immediate response about correcting this situation so that victims claims may be processed.

Under Maryland's Victims Rights laws, victims have a right to receive help with expenses occurring as a result of the crime. The Board believes that the long delay in processing claims for Montgomery County crime victims is in fact a violation of this law and these victims' rights. With that in mind, the Board will continue to seek an explanation as to why this delay occurred as well as immediate action from the Victims' Rights Compliance office until we are assured that this matter is resolved.

BUDGET PRIORITIES FOR 2009

The mission of the Board is to support Montgomery County's commitment to serving victims of crime. In these difficult budgetary times, victim services should not be reduced because they are part of the County government's fundamental responsibilities.

Additionally, growth in the County population, particularly within the immigrant and non-English speaking community, has resulted in a greater need for these services and will therefore require additional funds, staff, and resources to meet these ever-increasing needs.

With that, the Board has outline five areas as budgetary priorities for calendar year 2009:

1. Abused Persons Program:

- ✍ Transitional housing (and/or increased shelter) for domestic violence victims, particularly undocumented immigrants
- ✍ Additional workers to reduce waitlist for offender counseling

2. Victim Assistance and Sexual Assault Program

- ✍ Spanish and French speaking case workers to serve waitlist for torture victims
- ✍ A courthouse-based victim advocate

3. Police

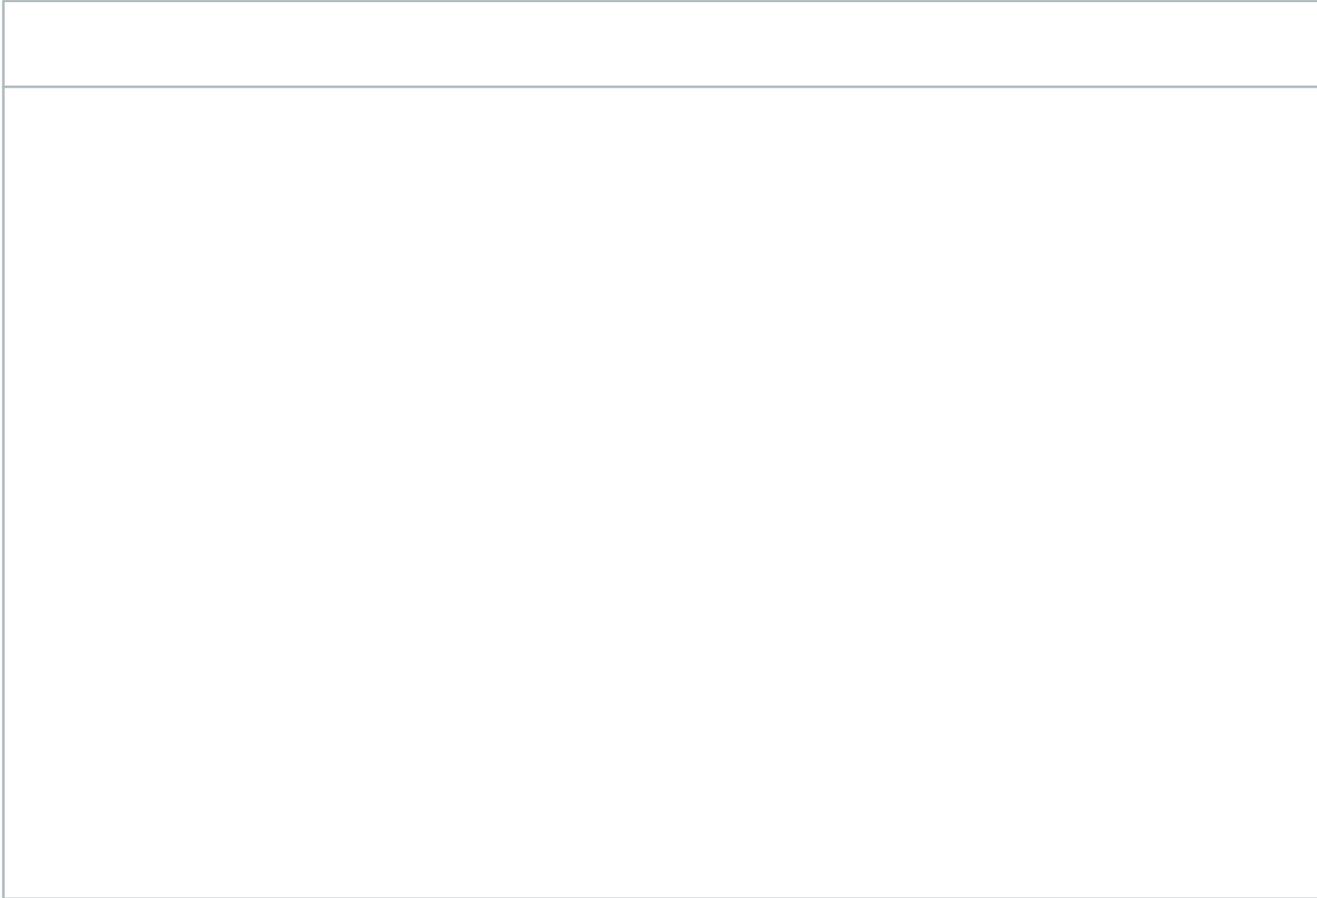

- ✍ County vehicle to transport victims

4. State Attorney's Office

- ✍ Funds for lost wages, meals and transportation for victims testifying in court and parents of juvenile victims

5. Sheriff's Office

- ✍ Ensure that federal grant funding for prosecution/victim services continues to be funded
