BEFORE THE
MERIT SYSTEM PROTECTION BOARD FOR MONTGOMERY COUNTY, MARYLAND

IN THE MATTER OF

APPELLANT,

AND

CASE NO. 22-19

MONTGOMERY COUNTY
GOVERNMENT,

EMPLOYER

FINAL DECISION

Appellant, an Assistant Chief with the Montgomery County Fire and Rescue Service (MCFRS), filed a grievance appeal with the Merit System Protection Board (Board or MSPB) on November 18, 2021, challenging the October 13, 2021, decision of the County’s Chief Labor Relations Officer (CLRO) dismissing her COVID-19 differential pay appeal as untimely.

The County filed a response to the appeal on December 21, 2021. (County Response). Appellant’s due date for a reply was January 17, 2022. To date, Appellant has not submitted a reply to the County’s submission.

The Appeal was reviewed and considered by the Board.

FINDINGS OF FACT

On April 3, 2020, the County entered into agreements with three unions, including the Montgomery County Career Fire Fighters Association, International Association of Fire Fighters, Local 1664, AFL-CIO (IAFF), providing for COVID-19 differential compensation. County Exhibit (CX) A. The agreements provided for additional COVID-19 compensation for bargaining

1 The appeal was submitted electronically on November 17, 2021, after the MSPB office was closed for the day. Accordingly, the appeal is considered to have been officially received the next Board business day. See MSPB Case No. 18-13 (2018).
unit members retroactive to March 29, 2020. The additional compensation was to be paid for the duration of the state of emergency related to COVID-19 that was declared by the State of Maryland. CX A.

The Agreement with IAFF provided that hours worked from March 29, 2020, were to be compensated at the rate of $10 per hour, except for those hours teleworked. CX A. The County and the unions subsequently agreed to end the COVID-19 differential pay effective February 14, 2021. CX B.

Appellant is an MCFRS management level employee at the rank of Assistant Chief and not a member of the IAFF bargaining unit covered by the collective bargaining agreement or the April 3, 2020, agreement concerning COVID-19 differential pay. CX A. On April 9, 2020, the County Office of Human Resources (OHR) issued a timekeeping guidance memorandum that provided for COVID-19 differential pay to certain unrepresented employees, but not for higher level management employees such as those in the Management Leadership Service (MLS), the Police Leadership Service (PLS), and the fire rescue services management. CX D, pp. 10 & 22; Appeal Form, p. 2 (“At the onset of the COVID-19 differential, the OHR director made a clear statement that management was not eligible for the additional COVID-19 compensation.”). The timekeeping guidance memorandum was revised on April 11, 2020. CX D, pp. 12-23.

Appellant’s September 20, 2021, grievance form asserts that when she learned of the settlement of grievances filed by other MCFRS managers she concluded that denying her the same COVID-19 differential pay would be arbitrary and capricious. CX C, p. 2. See Appellant’s Appeal Form, p. 2 (“[O]n August 26, 2021, I discovered that a segment of FRS managers filed a grievance and that a settlement was reached that provided the $10/hr compensation but only for those that filed the initial grievance, not for all FRS managers.”).

APPLICABLE LAW AND POLICY

Montgomery County Personnel Regulations (MCPR), 2001 (as amended February 15, 2005, October 21, 2008, July 12, 2011, June 30, 2015, and June 1, 2020), § 34, Grievances, which provides, in pertinent part:

(a) Time limit for filing a grievance.

(1) A grievance may be dismissed by the OLR Chief if it is not filed within 30 calendar days after:

(A) the date on which the employee knew or should have known of the occurrence or action on which the grievance is based; or

(B) the date on which the employee received notice, if notice of an action is specifically required by these Regulations.

(6) The OLR Chief may extend the time limits stated in the grievance procedure for compelling reasons. The OLR Chief must give the parties prompt notice of an extension.
(b) Technical and procedural review of grievances.

...

(5) The OLR Chief must review the grievance and decide if the grievance:

(A) presents an issue that is grievable under Section 34-4;
(B) was timely filed; and
(C) otherwise complies with this section.

(6) If the grievance does not satisfy the requirements of Section 34-9(b)(5) the OLR Chief must dismiss the grievance.

(7) The department that the grievance was filed against should not respond to the grievance if OLR advises the department that the issue is not grievable or the grievance is not timely filed.

(9) The OLR Chief or CAO may reconsider issues of timeliness or grievability at any stage of the grievance process.

ISSUE

Did Appellant file a timely grievance? If so, is she entitled to COVID-19 differential pay?

ANALYSIS AND CONCLUSIONS

The timeliness of the grievance filed by Appellant on September 20, 2021, is the sole issue of this appeal. There was no consideration or determination by the CAO or the Chief Labor Relations Officer on the merits of Appellant’s grievance.²

COVID-19 front facing differential pay began March 29, 2020 and ended on February 14, 2021. The guidance memorandum sent to County management employees contained language specifically stating that MCFRS management employees were not eligible for COVID front facing pay. CX D. As an Assistant Chief Appellant is a high-level MCFRS manager, and she admits that she was aware from the timekeeping guidance that she was not eligible for COVID-19 differential pay.

² Although MCPR §34-1(b) defines a CAO’s designee as “an OLR staff member or other individual designated by the CAO,” the decision issued by the OLR Chief does not state that the OLR Chief was acting as the CAO’s Step 2 designee. Under the personnel regulations, direct appeals to the MSPB from OLR Chief decisions are limited to grievability (MCPR §34-6(b)) and harassment or retaliation (MCPR §34-7). Such direct appeals do not expressly include the OLR Chief’s timeliness determination. But see MSPB Case No. 07-01 (2006). We also note that a decision of the OLR Chief regarding denial of official time to prepare a grievance is “final”, suggesting that if the MCPR provisions were supposed to include timeliness determinations by the OLR Chief as final the MCPR would say so. MCPR §34-3(g). Nevertheless, the MSPB will permit the OLR Chief’s decision to be appealable to the Board under these circumstances. The OLR Chief’s decision told Appellant that her next step was to appeal to the MSPB. We have no interest in penalizing Appellant for following those instructions. See MSPB Case No. 17-16 (2017) (“We do not fault Appellant for acting on the inaccurate direction from OHR and incorrectly appealing directly to the MSPB instead of to the CAO. While the Board could remand this matter to the CAO for consideration at Step 2 of the grievance process, the undisputed facts confirm that the grievance was not filed in a timely manner. Thus, a remand would be pointless and a disservice to both Appellant and the County.”).
pay: “I do not deny that, based on written guidance from the County’s OHR director in the early days of the pandemic, I understood that Public Safety Managers would not be eligible to receive onsite COVID differential pay.” CX C, p. 2.

We find that well before the program ended in February 2021 Appellant knew that bargaining unit employees were receiving COVID-19 differential pay and that she was not. Appellant filed her grievance on September 20, 2021, over seven (7) months after the COVID-19 differential pay program had already ended, significantly more than 30 days after Appellant knew or should have known of the basis for a grievance.

Appellant’s grievance form states that she became aware that other MCFRS management employees had filed grievances and settled with the County on August 26, 2021. In Appellant’s Response she argues that the grievance time limits should run not from when she became aware that the COVID-19 differential pay was being denied to MCFRS managers like her, but rather from when she found out that MCFRS managers who had filed grievances challenging the policy had reached a settlement with the County to receive such pay. Her grievance requests that she be provided with the same relief as the MCFRS management employees who filed earlier grievances and settled with the County. “Once the determination to compensate some managers was made, all managers should have been included.” CX C, p. 2 (emphasis in original).

Appellant appears to base this contention on MCPR § 34-4(d), which provides that an employee may file a grievance if the employee was adversely affected by the alleged “improper, inequitable or unfair application of the compensation policy.” (emphasis added). However, longstanding Board precedent expressly rejects the theory that obtaining knowledge of another employee’s grievance or settlement may serve as a triggering event for grievance filing time limits. Settlement of an appeal by one group of employees and not including other employees who were not parties to the litigation in the settlement does not constitute a change in policy. Nor can it be considered a “grievable act.” For example, in MSPB Case No. 01-07 (2001) the Board held:

As to the contention that the September 2000 receipt of information regarding a similar case serving as a “triggering event” for a denial that occurred in September 1999, the Board has ruled consistently that an employee cannot use as knowledge of another employee’s grievance an alternate operating date from which the time to file a grievance runs. (See MSPB Case No. 89-02, the Appeal of . . . ; MSPB Case No. 97-11, the Appeal of . . . et. al; MSPB Case No. 98-04, the Appeal of . . . ; MSPB Case No. 99-21, the Appeal of . . . ; and MSPB Case No. 00-05, the Appeal of . . . In all of these cases, the Board ruled that the complaints were not timely filed.

See MSPB Case No. 22-13 (2022). See also MSPB Case No. 00-05 (2000) (“an employee cannot use the knowledge of another employee’s grievance as an alternative operative date from which the time for filing a grievance runs.”).

Furthermore, this Board has held that settlement agreements involving other employees may not be used even in an analysis of whether employees in similar positions have received comparable discipline for comparable behavior. MSPB Case No. 19-16 (2019); MSPB Case No. 18-06 (2019). Underlying those decisions was a respect for the public policy in favor of compromise and settlement, and a recognition that not taking into account settlements as part of a consideration of otherwise similar situations is necessary to avoid a chilling effect on the settlement of disputes. MSPB Case No. 22-13 (2022). See Bergh v. Department of Transportation, 794 F.2d 1575, 1577 (Fed. Cir.) cert. denied, 479 U.S. 950 (1986) (rejecting a disparate treatment claim based on an agency’s settlement with other employees). That policy is similarly applicable to grievances. MSPB Case No. 22-13 (2022).

Nor may Appellant claim that there is a continuing violation. It is true that a “time limitation may be waived . . . if the otherwise untimely allegation is part of a ‘continuing violation,’ i.e., a related series of acts, at least one of which occurred within the limitations period.” MSPB Case No. 05-04 (2005). In this case no alleged violation occurred within the grievance time limits. The COVID front facing pay differential policy was only in effect from March 2020 to February 2021. Appellant’s grievance was filed on September 20, 2021, seven months after the end of the COVID-19 differential pay policy. Accordingly, we must find that the grievance does not allege and meet the standard for a continuing violation. MSPB Case No. 22-13 (2022). See MSPB Case No. 11-08 (2011) (appellant knew of wage compression event but found out about a Board ruling in other cases 5 years later); MSPB Case No. 17-16 (2017) (while salary effects of promotion decision continue, no related, discrete grievable acts within 30 days); MSPB Case No. 17-14 (2017) (request to alter chain of command denied and not reconsidered; continuing violation requires related, discrete grievable acts which occurred within 30 days prior to the grievance filing).

Finally, we note that the OLR Chief may extend time limits in the grievance procedure, MCPR § 34-9(a)(6), and that “[t]he OLR Chief or CAO may reconsider issues of timeliness of grievability at any stage of the grievance process.” §34-9(b)(9). This Board has the same authority. See MSPB Case No. 06-03 (August 16, 2006), p. 7 (“The Board exercises the same authority as the OHR Director [now OLR Chief] and the CAO to consider issues of timeliness or grievability of any grievance or amended grievance that is before it.”). However, the record indicates that unlike the MCFRS managers who filed their grievances in 2020, before the end of the program, and then settled their grievance appeals and received COVID-19 differential pay in 2021, Appellant simply did not file a timely grievance. There is no evidence in the record suggesting that the MCFRS managers who filed grievances in 2020 and settled with the County had access to different or better information about the COVID-19 differential pay issue. In essence, by not filing a grievance until seven months after the COVID-19 differential pay program ended Appellant waived her rights to claim COVID-19 pay while many of her MCFRS management colleagues chose to grieve and assert their rights while the program was still in effect. Appellant has not provided any justification for late filing that would constitute “good cause” for the Board to exercise its authority to extend the time limit for the initial filing of a grievance.

ORDER

Accordingly, for the above discussed reasons it is hereby ORDERED that the appeal in Case No. 22-19 be and hereby is DENIED.

If any party disagrees with the decision of the Merit System Protection Board, pursuant to Montgomery County Code, §33-15, Judicial review and enforcement, and MCPR, §35-18, Appeals to court of MSPB decisions, within 30 days of this Order a petition for judicial review may be filed with the Circuit Court for Montgomery County, Maryland in the manner prescribed under the Maryland Rules, Chapter 200, Rule 7-202.
