U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES (DHHS), Rockville, MD Sep 1997 – Aug 2004
 Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), Child, Adolescent and Family Branch (CAFB)
Evaluation Director and Acting Deputy Branch Chief (40 hours) (continued)

- Served as a national leader in cultural competence, health equity, and health disparities of systems of care for children and adolescent with serious emotional disorders and their families by directing national evaluation contracts, providing guidance to grantee sites, organizing and delivering conference presentations and symposia, participating in federal interdepartmental committees, and publishing articles, book chapters, policy briefs, Reports to Congress, and other literature.
- Supported the development of educational resources on cultural competence, health equity, and health disparities in child and adolescent mental health services such as research and policy briefs on cultural competence, and the 2004 report, Culturally Competent Research with American Indians and Alaska Natives, that included information on research and evaluation among American Indian and Alaska Native child and adolescent populations with SED and their families.
- Fostered an environment of collaboration with SAMHSA's Children's Program by encouraging state, county, territory, and tribal governments to apply for system of care grants, and by encouraging providers of evaluation and training resources to serve grantee sites effectively.
- Served as SAMHSA liaison on the Interdepartmental Planning Committee that organized the first U.S. Surgeon General's Conference on Children's Mental Health on September 19-20, 2000 in Washington, D.C., with three hundred participants, 15 of whom were youth with SED that I recruited from grant sites of SAMHSA's children's program. The conference released a report entitled A National Action Agenda that included recommendations for reducing health disparities among underserved ethnic, racial, and socioeconomic populations.

RESEARCH FOUNDATION FOR MENTAL HYGIENE, Albany, NY
Research Scientist (40 hours)

Dec 1994 – July 1997

Led a program evaluation and conducted research of federally-funded grants that aimed to research and develop systems of care that reduced mental health service disparities among children and adolescents with serious emotional disorders and their families who were from underserved Hispanic, African American, and African racial and ethnic populations in the Bronx and South Bronx, New York.

- Planned, led, and supervised staff involved with the behavioral health function of assessment by conducting the evaluation of the FRIENDS Initiative, a five-year $17M grant funded by SAMHSA's Comprehensive Community Mental Health Services for Children and their Families Program with the goal of assuring the effectiveness and customer satisfaction of the emerging system of care.
- Field tested an early version of the Cultural and Linguistic Competence Health Practitioner Assessment which is now sponsored and disseminated by the National Center for Cultural Competence at Georgetown University as a research, policy development, and educational tool to promote organizational health equity.
- Conducted interviews across the Bronx with about 15 children and adolescents with serious emotional disorders and their families who were part of a research grant funded by the National Institute of Mental Health.
- Recruited a group of parent advocates of children and adolescents with serious emotional disorders who assisted with research interviews and data collection tasks.
- Collaborated effectively with professional staff of several stakeholder groups of the FRIENDS evaluation including ORC MACRO, the contractor for the National Evaluation of SAMHSA's system of care initiative; other SAMHSA grant sites; officials of the New York State Office of Mental Health in Albany, NY and New York City; (4) and staff at the Borough of the Bronx.
