Honorable Evan Glass
President, Montgomery County Council
100 Maryland Avenue
Rockville, MD 20850

Dear Council President Glass,

I am pleased to present my letter of interest for the position of Chair of the Montgomery County Planning Board. My resume accompanies this letter. I have experience in both the private and public sectors as an urban planner, as a mayor, and as an appointed official. I believe my diverse background and practice would be an asset to Montgomery County and the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

The County's Planning Board is in a crucial period with the implementation of the new General Plan – Thrive 2050, the need to restore the public's trust, and to build on the progress reached by the Executive and the Council of getting "back in the game" with respect to economic development. I am the person with the experience and skills to undertake these tasks.

Further headway will necessitate internal improvements with support of the staff; external outreach to ALL communities in the county; strengthening relations with other county agencies, branches, and partners; following the Thrive 2050 road map; and creating a place where business and development desire to locate and remain, while infusing equitable policies in every aspect. The next Chair must continue the effective working relationship with the Parks Department and engage the appropriate individual to lead the Planning Department. The new Planning Director should be a visionary, stand behind the staff, explore other counties and municipalities for innovative ideas, and continually push the policies of public engagement and inclusion.

Currently, I am the Director of the Bethesda-Chevy Chase Regional Services serving the communities of Bethesda, Cabin John, Chevy Chase, Friendship Heights, Garrett Park, Glen Echo, North Bethesda, Potomac, Rockville, and Twinbrook. Bringing "small town" responsiveness, the office focuses on resolving issues by working with civic organizations, community stakeholders, and businesses on urban district concerns, marketing and placemaking, health programs, housing needs, open space and landscaping, land use, transportation systems, biker and pedestrian safety, food and clothing aid, and immigration assistance. While it is difficult to choose, I believe my helping a person through our immigration process and on the road to becoming a U.S. Citizen, is my proudest accomplishment as director.

Prior to the Director of the B-CC RS, I was the Master Plan Ombudsman for the Office of the County Executive. I worked closely with the County Planning Department, the Department of Transportation, the Department of Environment, Fire and Rescue as well as other agencies at local and state levels. Duties comprised of implementing county master plan goals, day to day construction projects, and developing a branding campaign for each local population. I also served as liaison between government, residents, businesses, and developers making public presentations and mitigating various community issues. In 2017, I was a member of the first class of the Regional Fellows Program for Public Leadership at the Urban Land Institute where we focused on local community and planning solutions. During the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Office of the County Executive recruited me to assist with the Business Advancement Team to oversee closing financial reviews and approval of Covid-19 grant funding. As we began to navigate life with Covid-19, I started playing a significant role in the County's concept of a bio-health innovation campus at the North Bethesda Metro by meeting with universities, WMATA staff, Planning staff, and area stakeholders. My most significant accomplishment as Ombudsman was creating Friends of White Oak (FOWO) to develop a voice for the needs of the East County. The FOWO have become a 501 non-profit and are a strong voice for the community.

In addition, I am the longest serving Mayor of Kensington (2006 to 2016). I administered a $2.9 M budget, real property and business taxes, and presided over the Town Council meetings. Under my administration, the public works staff performed landscaping and snow removal duties in addition to green space and park maintenance. As mayor I helped develop Explore Kensington, a multi-pronged campaign promoting community events as well as support for local businesses. By my third term I appointed a new Town Manager and helped increase our "rainy day" fund by $900K. My most significant accomplishment as Mayor is the revitalization of Kensington by chaperoning the Town's comprehensive master plan through the State, County, and Town approval processes. This successful effort was achieved through strategic community outreach, an Urban Land Institute Technical Assistance Panel, and an inclusive design process. In 2015, the 152 Mayors of Maryland elected me President of the Maryland Mayors' Association. A noteworthy achievement during my administration was lobbying the State General Assembly to make changes under Article 28 allowing Kensington to have quasi zoning authority with respect to land use.

In 2011, I was appointed by Governor Martin O'Malley as Maryland's Deputy Secretary of State, overseeing the Charities and Legal Divisions. Within these divisions I managed non-profit registrations, the Safe at Home Address Confidentiality Program for victims of domestic violence prevention and human trafficking, the Maryland Charity Campaign of United Way, prisoner extraditions and requisitions, and Notaries of Public. The staff of the six divisions within the agency assisted me with fiscal notes for legislation, the annual budget, and public testimony to the General Assembly. A major achievement as Deputy was the restructuring of the divisions to create a more efficient process which improved customer response quality and time and saved financial resources. I am also proud to have improved the domestic violence prevention and human trafficking program by increasing outreach by travelling around Maryland and hiring the program's first director.

Prior to my time with the State and Town, I was a Principal and Urban Planner at the land use firm of Rodgers Consulting; interacting on a regular basis with chambers of commerce, land use attorneys, engineers, architects, and county and state officials. This included client recruitment and retention, a comprehensive understanding of architectural and engineering blueprints as well as zoning regulations. I delivered public presentations, met with key stakeholders, and worked through divisive community issues to achieve a compromise on proposed site plans. I believe successfully managing the nationally recognized neotraditional community, the Kentlands is my signature work at Rodgers.

I was selected Chair of the Gaithersburg Olde Towne Economic Development Corporation by the City Mayor and Council, to oversee the revitalization of the Olde Towne District. I effectively lead a diverse Board of seven who represented the corporate and residential communities. We brought new life to the district by initiating zoning changes, lobbying, receiving a state grant of $7M, and creating community organized events. Evidence of that work shines in Gaithersburg today.

My educational background is in Urban Studies and Landscape Design. I have been active in the community by volunteering for various non-profits and I am especially proud of being one of six founders of the Montgomery County LGBTQ Center. I live with my husband of 27 years, Duane, and our two dogs in Rockville. And I am a registered Democrat.

Thank you to the County Council and you, Council President, for the opportunity to apply for the position of Chair and your kind consideration of my application. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Dear Councilmembers,

I am writing to share more about why I have applied for the challenging role of serving our community, and the County Council, as Chair of the Park & Planning Commission.

Above all, this job combines my policy vision and deep personal interests with my professional and community expertise.

From a young age I have cared about planning, development and parks. Thanks to parents who were involved in the community, I learned that my experience in Oakland was deeply impacted by white flight development patterns and the decline of the City's economic base; families lacked access to jobs, the city lacked a tax base, and the community suffered from poverty. I learned that the government was critical to changing those conditions.

I experienced the freedom that comes from walking to school, riding my bike several miles to my friend's houses, and taking the bus or the train across town or across the region. I hiked and biked our glorious regional and national parks, inspiring my love for the environment, and felt a frustration when I played in baseball tournaments in the exurbs where the fields seemed like they were pro caliber yet back home mine were full of rocks and broken glass. In college, I broadened my interests by studying architectural history.

All of these experiences involve policy issues that propelled me into public service and motivated my work as a Councilmember. I hope that helps explain why I am so interested in this opportunity.

Ultimately though, this is not about me. It's about you, the Council, and our community, and the need for someone to shepherd the County's continuing land use transformation while providing responsive leadership for an important agency with many employees and stakeholders.

The strengths and experience that I bring to this role will serve you well:

Understanding the agency role. Chairing the Council's Park & Planning Committee is ideal preparation for chairing the Park & Planning Commission. With the Chair position, the Council makes a high impact choice for a partnership. With 12 years of experience working in collaboration with the Commission, I understand important nuances that other candidates will only learn at the expense of the Council and community. The Council will be best served by someone with deep experience in the work of the Commission as well as someone who is reliable in the role. I will be better able than other candidates to steer the process to create successful outcomes. I also know that when the Planning Board makes mistakes, the Council often pays the price.

My experience writing and steering numerous Master Plans, zoning text amendments, workplans, park plans and Agency budgets, sets me apart -- each of them carefully negotiated and revised in dialogue with Councilmembers, the Planning Chair and Agency staff, the executive branch, and community leaders. Those skills will strengthen the Council's work.

One issue I often struggled with as a Councilmember was the folklore of how the land-use decision process works: it was common to assume that the Planning Board would send over plans that went far beyond what the staff or community process had contemplated and allow the Council to "cut them down." I never thought that served us well, since it needlessly created community opposition for no real benefit, and created a raucous process for the Council to manage. For Councilmembers who generally wanted to be understood as encouraging good development rather than restricting it, having to cut back plans seemed to contradict their platforms, leaving advocates to doubt their leadership.

I will approach our draft Master Plans with the intention of getting as close to the optimal plan as possible, without assuming that the Council will inevitably just cut it down; while always recognizing that it is only a draft for the Council to work from and fully support the Council's role in producing a final plan (the word "board draft" is very important in the Master Plan process, as it is in the Budget process relative to the "executive draft"). I hope this philosophy will lead to a more successful process for the community, more trust between the Council and Planning Board, and better politics for Councilmembers who have to put themselves on the line running for election.

Leading the Staff and Board: Our superb Agency needs a leader who can imbue the incredible staff with confidence to perform their jobs at the highest level. I have more than a decade worth of relationship building with agency staff. Whether the topic is the plan for new parks, master plans under development, or development applications, I will have context and understanding to engage with our team and help them achieve success. That will serve the Council and Commission well. I see the job of the Chair as supporting and elevating the work of our staff. I also know the new Commission members you have recently appointed and I am more than likely to know any additional new Commission members who might be appointed. These relationships will position me to lead the Board and the Staff well and ensure the strongest possible organization to serve the Council. And of course as a past Council President and PHED Chair, I can lead the Board's public meetings with aplomb.

State Relationships: Thanks to 12 years on the Council, I know our state legislators well and I am well positioned to continue building on the strategy of securing bond bills and other state investments in our Parks and public facilities. There are also occasional state legislative challenges that the Commission must address, and my experience there will help the Council work through these successfully.

Development Process: Serving as the Council's steward over development, the Chair needs a strong understanding of how projects move through the process, who the executive branch (and outside agency) leaders are, what the departments do, and how to get outcomes working together. My skills and experience in this area will serve the Council well. Particularly now, with discussion about making changes in the development approval process, the Council will be best served by an experienced hand who can be effective in the deliberations. I will approach this serious topic with a spirit of embracing the possibility of improving the development process -- there is no question that we can make significant improvements if we can marshal agreement from the many institutional partners to the process -- while advancing the Council's objectives.

Experience in the Community: I believe that the Council will be well served by having a Planning Chair who has successfully engaged with voters directly all across this great County and who recognizes the vast differences in perspectives here, who views all voices as valuable and worthy. A policy and engagement process is most successful when divergent views are heard and respected, recommendations are challenged and reconsidered, and final decisions truly have the benefit of various points of view. While consensus is rare, to quote one of the sayings I often reflect upon, "Good process gets good results." Not to mention that having served as an At-large Councilmember, I have deeper experience in all of our County's neighborhoods and communities of interest, which matters a great deal as we shape the future of land-use, transportation, housing, public facilities and parks in the County. I also approach challenges with a flexible and pragmatic mindset that seeks a smooth path to maximize benefits while enabling us to move forward constructively to the next set of challenges.

Policy Vision: The Council can be confident that my approach to policy matches the Council's aspirations. The planning vision I have worked to advance over the years has been supported with innumerable unanimous votes at the Council (or, at times, 8-1 votes). Bringing out the best in our community's rural, suburban and urban communities is the Board's responsibility and one that I take seriously.

The policy agenda for the Commission comes from the Council. So while I will now touch on some of the issues I would like to address, back to "understanding the agency role," I will restate that should you appoint me a Chair, I would seek to implement the Council's vision. With that in mind, some of the topics that I know will be part of our collaborative agenda include:

- Smart growth and climate -- Thrive Montgomery 2050 emphasizes our commitment to a corridor focused development strategy where future growth and development will be more transit focused and have a smaller climate impact than the greenfield development of our past. While fulfilling the needs of those who live in our suburban neighborhoods, we can also ensure that as we grow we concentrate our development in multi-family buildings on transit corridors that are walkable, bikeable, and have the amenities that our community needs to thrive. Then, we will truly have the choices available to support all generations and lifestyles.

- Parks equity -- providing the highest quality parks throughout the County. Every family should be able to walk to a great playground or field within ten minutes of where they live. Competition level athletic fields should be available within a reasonable distance to every community. Dog owners should be able to quickly travel to a dog park. Hikers and mountain bikers should be just a short trip to an off-road journey that, thanks to trail interconnections, can last as long as they have time and stamina to continue. But not all of our County was planned or developed with these goals in mind. We have work to do!
- Housing -- Every neighborhood should have a variety of housing types and affordability levels. We must continue taking forceful action to promote housing production and improve affordability. We should develop the Social Housing vision that we are already leading on nationally. The Commission could provide more “think tank” type support on housing and economic development policy to the Council.
- Thriving urban centers -- In a post-pandemic economic environment where working from home has suddenly become the norm, our downtowns have the chance to thrive because they are close to home. Encouraging high quality redevelopment is an essential economic development strategy. You can see the results in downtown Bethesda today, which is buzzing during the work day with work-from-home residents -- while DC is relatively quiet. We are at an inflection point where delivering a series of additional high quality nodes (White Flint, Great Seneca, and East County to choose a few examples) is mission critical.
- Transparency -- The Council has recently adopted legislation (Bill 8-23) promoting transparency for all boards and commissions. It is important for MNCPPC to follow the Council’s lead on transparency. Our planning process is community driven, meaning that community voices have high expectations for how they are allowed to engage. The Commission needs to meet those standards.
- Transportation -- While continuing our gradual transformation to embrace non-auto forms of transportation, the Council and Commission have outlined some big picture goals recently that we may pursue together, such as Metro to Germantown, two-way MARC service, high quality bus service on major roads, and more. The incoming Pedestrian Master Plan will provide a policy agenda that will take many years to implement, just as we must continue pressing forward on implementing the Bikeways Master Plan. As Chair, I will await the Council’s guidance on the American Legion Bridge and 270.
- Police -- One of the important responsibilities for the Chair and Commission is overseeing the Agency’s police department. I look forward to working closely with Chief Darryl McSwain, one of the County’s most capable public safety leaders, whom I know well from our years of service together. I have always appreciated the Department’s role and many years ago ensured that it was retained when others proposed to strip it from the Agency and move it to the County, where Park safety might be overlooked.
- Athletics and youth sports -- While the Parks Department has always had the role of stewardship for our natural Park resources, I have often felt over the years that the responsibility for promoting athletics has not been central enough. We have work to do to make our County a regional leader in providing athletic facilities that can make growing up here or playing sports an equitable and awesome experience.

- Participation -- One of the imperatives I took away from our racial equity analysis, as well as continuing to build on past efforts by Councilmembers and the Commission, is that we need to do capacity building in disenfranchised communities to participate in community development. A "Participation Academy" could help bring the full array of voices to the table. A high school module could help young people understand the County's planning vision, history and process. And internship programs connected with area universities can help us bring in new voices as well as diversify our workforce.
- Engaging our diverse community -- The Commission must be committed to ensuring that a process for governing our future has the participation of everyone and not just those who are familiar with how to participate. Culturally competent outreach, knocking on doors, holding meetings in the community, effective social media -- tactics that the Commission has been pioneering -- should be expanded and strengthened to bring all voices to the table.
- Connected native gardens -- I hope to work with our Parks team to identify how we could do more to promote native plant gardening here in the County, mobilizing and connecting gardeners to create habitat corridors that will support insects, birds, and other native wildlife.
- Agriculture -- Thrive Montgomery 2050, which I was proud to help steer through the County Council, affirmed the Council's commitment to upholding the vision of the Agricultural Reserve. Fulfilling that vision, however, requires constant attention to the needs of our agricultural producers, as well as finding new ways to engage the public in enjoying and supporting low-density zoning (the wineries and breweries that I worked to support through zoning reforms when they were prohibited, for example, are a great evolution in the vision there).
- Regional planning -- Montgomery County is profoundly impacted by larger trends in the region. The shift of economic development south into Virginia poses a future of longer commutes, less private investment and less vitality in the Northern and Eastern parts of the region. The Chair should participate in regional planning conversations with Maryland, Prince George's County and DC, to continue working on a vision that can bring balance back to the region.

Thank you for your consideration! I hope this letter explains why I will serve you best as your partner to bring our community's vision for high quality development and world class parks to life.

Sincerely,

Hans Riemer

Dear President Glass and Members of the Montgomery County Council,

I write to apply for the position of Montgomery County Planning Board Member. I am a resident of Aspen Hill, a first-generation immigrant, public school parent, community organizer, local political economy expert, podcast host, longtime educator in Montgomery County, and a registered Democrat.

I come from higher education. I have run for the Board of Education. I host a political science podcast in Montgomery County. You might be wondering why I am applying to be on the Planning Board. I will try to answer this question below and show that the substance of my work and the breadth and depth of my public policy engagement uniquely qualify me to help the Planning Board work on upcoming master plans and sector plans that will bring to life Thrive 2050, the new general plan you approved last year. In the process, I want to help improve the lives of all the people of our county, including newcomers, children, young adults, the economically disadvantaged, and the politically disengaged.

First, I teach political economy, which sits at the foundation of planning as a function and a discipline. The idea of zoning or housing affordability, to take just two examples, come from the study of local political economy. I have not only taught these topics, but also created new and innovative coursework on the local political economy of Montgomery County and the Washington, DC, region focused on planning issues.

One important aspect of my background is the value I place on expertise (and, it turns out, long reports). The Montgomery Parks and Planning Staff has been resolutely professional in the face of significant challenges the last few years. A reconstituted Planning Board must engage staff with respect and ensure they are treated professionally.

Second, I bring intersectionality in governance. A Planning Board full of singular expertise will produce one kind of decision. My work inside and outside the classroom offers the possibility of balancing the many pulls and pressures the Planning Board must work with.

Over the last several years and across many venues, including many advisory and nonprofit boards, I have had incredible opportunities to interact with experts, leaders, county residents, and elected officials who have shaped my own thinking on planning issues. I have learned about the history and implications of the wedges and corridors plan and have closely followed transportation, transit, economic development, and road design debates. No matter how we cut it, Montgomery County has a housing problem and where we have middle income housing, we lack transit. Apart from core planning issues, I bring knowledge of schools, the environment, agriculture, and road safety. Not usually seen in the planning context, my work on youth mental health led to me think about how we force teenagers out of sight because we do not generally build free-use public infrastructure for them.

Third, I have shown via my podcast what it means to have substantive and meaningful conversations with people even when we disagree. I strongly believe that the Planning Board must engage and then act. Indeed, the purpose of engagement must be action taken to improve the lives of all county residents. This raises some challenging questions about how we structure engagement in a democracy, yet another political science dilemma I can help address based on my background.

In writing this application, I have thought about possible conflicts between the podcast I host and Planning Board work. If you decide to appoint me, I will first call the Maryland State Ethics Commission and ask them for a ruling on what I can continue doing and what I cannot. Please know that the podcast is evolving as a teaching and learning tool as more students become involved in the making of the show. The podcast is also broadening its scope to subject matter outside of Montgomery County.

There is incredible diversity and variability of life and living in Montgomery County between down and up county and east and west county, between and among our institutions, and within the dense network of civil society that flourishes in our county. In the book Hyperlocal, Tracy Hadden Loh and Jennifer S. Vey of the Brookings Institution argue that placemaking becomes challenging when there are multiple jurisdictions and overlapping authorities that govern neighborhoods, and that the way to resolve this problem is to build localized stakeholders and empower hyperlocal entities.

These are challenges the Planning Board will be wrestling with in the future. Given my own background with these issues, I hope you will consider moving me forward to the interviews. I would be excited to be a part of the ensuing dialogue.

Sincerely,

Montgomery County Council

County Council Office

Stella B. Werner Council Office Building

Attn: Clerk

100 Maryland Avenue

Rockville, MD 20850

Members of the Montgomery County Council,

I'm excited to submit my application to serve as a member of the Montgomery County Planning Board. With a broad range of planning experience, nuanced understanding of the complex challenges and opportunities we face as a County, and passion for building strong and sustainable communities, I would value the opportunity to work with the Council and our neighbors as a member of the Planning Board.

With deep roots in the region, my family and I were thrilled to return to the area last summer after spending four years in Oregon as my spouse attended medical school. I lived in the DC region for 10 years before our time in Oregon, working for much of that time in Bethesda. I'm happy to have the opportunity to raise my young daughter in this community and build lasting relationships with neighbors and families in the coming years. This is our home – and, in collaboration with you and current members of the Planning Board, I hope address some of our County's most pressing challenges: housing affordability, future growth, climate action, transportation safety, and regional coordination around all of these goals. I want my daughter to see our community as a desirable and welcoming place to live when she's my age – a community where a young adult can afford a home or apartment, where a young family can safely walk or bike to school, and where grandparents can live and retire. A community for everyone.

I have worked directly on planning initiatives for more than 7 years and have served on community and non-profit boards that represent community interests, engage in the planning process, and collaborate with local and elected leaders. Examples include:

- Advisory Neighborhood Commission 6C (DC) – Co-Chair of the Transportation Committee
- MWCOG Transportation Planning Board – Citizen Advisory Committee Member
- Portland Bureau of Transportation – Chair of the Budget Advisory Committee
- The Street Trust (Transportation Non-Profit) – Board Member and Secretary

These roles required consistent and thoughtful engagement with the community, an understanding of planning's relationship to community challenges and needs, the ability to translate policy into potential outcomes, and high-level communication skills. Moreover, they facilitated a multi-layered understanding of policy and planning – from the neighborhood level all the way up to the broader region – that is paramount when leading complex planning programs in a large, multijurisdictional region.

Professionally, I have experience in a broad range of planning areas. In my current role with BERK Consulting, I work directly with cities and counties across Washington State to update their comprehensive plans, develop housing needs analyses, evaluate climate change vulnerability and risk, produce park and recreation plans, analyze land supply and growth capacity, and evaluate zoning code amendments related to housing. Specific examples of this work include:

- Comprehensive Plan Updates: Support small, medium, and large cities and counties to update the elements within their comprehensive plans. Includes community profile analysis, long-range modeling and projections, engagement programs, and policy and code recommendations.
- Housing Needs Analyses: Evaluate housing market conditions and community housing needs for cities and counties across Washington State.
- Statewide Housing Projection: Following WA State legislative guidance, produced long-range housing net need projections for every county, which included needs at all household income levels.
- Displacement Risk: Following WA State legislative guidance, produced a displacement risk methodology for cities and counties to use as part of the update to the housing elements of their comprehensive plans.
- Climate Vulnerability and Risk: Produce frameworks to evaluate climate change vulnerability and risk for cities and counties, which include a spatial index based on exposure, community sensitivity, and adaptive capacity.
- Buildable Lands and Growth Capacity: Support counties (including King County, the largest in Washington State) to analyze their residential and commercial land supply, growth capacity given existing conditions and recent achieved densities, and long-term outlook relative to projected population and job growth.
- Transportation Vehicle Miles Traveled Study: Supported the Washington State Department of Transportation to develop policy options for the Washington State Legislature regarding a vehicle miles traveled reduction program, to be implemented by Metropolitan Planning Organizations within the state.

Together, I believe this blend of community representation, local roots, and complex planning work – with comparative perspectives from large and growing regions – gives me a nuanced and grounded understanding of the challenges we face as a County. Thank you for your consideration – I would be honored to work with you, and I look forward to future conversations.

Best regards,
Josh Linden

Re: Planning Board Application

Dear President Glass:

Please accept this letter and attached resume as my application to serve as a member of the Montgomery County Planning Board. I am applying for the vacant member seat. As you may recall, I was a finalist in the unaffiliated group of applicants for the three permanent seats filled in February and was endorsed by the Montgomery County Chamber of Commerce. After participating in the selection process earlier this year and learning more about the applicants who were selected, I am confident my skills and experience would be a perfect fit with the well qualified group of three new members recently seated on the Board. I hope my re-application for the one remaining seat demonstrates my strong interest in serving the County as a member of the Planning Board.

Montgomery County is a wonderful place to raise a family and I would like to help keep it that way. I moved here right after college in the fall of 1978 and have been a County resident ever since. My three daughters were all born here and attended public school in the BCC cluster before heading off to college and launching their professional careers. I am thankful to the current and former elected and appointed County officials who have created and maintained the great environment in which we live. I feel a strong responsibility to give back to the greater community by doing my part to build on their past success in maintaining the high quality of life in Montgomery County. A seat on the Planning Board would leverage my ability to ensure the County remains a great place to live for future generations. That is my motivation in applying for this position. My education, professional experience, civic involvement, and residence in the County for the past 44 years uniquely qualify me for a seat on the Planning Board.

I am a civil engineer whose professional goal is to improve the built environment. During my career I have held different positions in the development process to successfully achieve this goal including periods as a designer, general contractor, construction manager, public official, building owner, and real estate developer. I am currently employed by a real estate development firm in Washington, DC. In this position I have taken many projects through the development process in various jurisdictions around the metropolitan DC area, including Montgomery County. The focus of my training and professional practice has been all about problem solving and collaboration. I understand the process of altering our environment – from concept through planning, entitlement, design, and execution – and can help improve both the process and result as a member of the Planning Board. I have established a reputation of honesty and integrity in the real estate industry. I have held clearances issued by the United States Department of Justice, the United States Secret Service, and the General Services Administration that attest to my character.

To properly discharge the responsibilities delegated to a member of the Planning Board requires the devotion of substantial time and energy. I am willing and able to make that commitment. As a long tenured, senior member at my firm I have the ability to set my own work schedule and delegate work to staff at my discretion. I have the full support and backing of the company's owners to serve as a member of the Planning Board.

Equally as important as my professional experience in shaping the built environment is my residency in the County. I have owned homes in Districts 4 and 5 and have tried to take advantage of the extensive park system, trails, and open spaces available here. Through coaching in MSI, umpiring in Montgomery County and BCC Little League, and my ongoing 44 year participation in various softball leagues, it seems as though I have visited almost every athletic field in the County. As an avid bike rider, often logging well over one thousand miles per year, I have become familiar with many of the bike trails and secondary roadways in the County. The recreational facilities available to County residents represent a major element in the quality of life here. It is critical they be maintained for future generations.

In summary, I have the technical training, professional experience, integrity, common sense, temperament, work ethic, and love of Montgomery County to make an excellent member of the Planning Board. I urge you to consider me for this position. I look forward to the opportunity to present my credentials to you and your council colleagues in person. I will make myself available at any time, including evenings and weekends, so you can fill this very important vacancy.

Sincerely,

Donald P. Silverstein, PE, LEED® AP
