  - IV. Website Suggestions:
    1. Aspen Catalog is no longer there and has been replaced with a different post
    2. Interstitial page is universal across all databases, hopefully, the text will be modified so if you click on Libby, it will say open Libby. There is no way to insert sign to point to a button because it's not a county page. They are trying to unify the .gov parts of the page so they are mobile accessible and accessible to readers and individuals with low vision and/or hearing impairment. One of the things that causes issues are banners or highlighting items.
