OFFICE OF THE COUNTY EXECUTIVE
ROCKVILLE, MARYLAND 20850

Isiah Leggett
County Executive

April 2017

Dear Friends:

Montgomery County is one of the world's most diverse and welcoming communities.

Because of our welcoming spirit, we have attracted talented people from across the country and around the world. We know that having people who understand virtually all the world's cultures and speak nearly every language is our edge in the global marketplace of the 21st century.

This doesn't just happen. Our culture of respecting people from all ethnic and racial backgrounds has been more than seven decades in the making. Civic reformers fought for and the voters approved a strong home rule charter in 1948. These civic leaders went on to press for civil rights and fair housing in the 1950s and 60s. Our welcoming community was built on this legal framework of equal rights and fairness for all our residents.

I came to the Washington area to attend Howard Law School where I served as a professor of law for more than three decades before being elected Montgomery County Executive. Montgomery County's commitment to equal rights attracted me to service as chair of Montgomery County Human Rights Commission in the 1980s.

The work of strengthening and enforcing our human rights laws and respecting the dignity of all of our residents is every bit as important today as it was in the 1960s and 1980s. The challenges may be different, but the commitment to this work remains essential.

I am very pleased to present the second edition of our Legal Immigration Service Providers guide. In 2013, we established the Montgomery County Legal Immigration Service Providers Network to coordinate the work of our community nonprofits representing our neighbors in need of legal assistance on immigration cases. Given the complexity of our federal immigration laws, we know that a person without a lawyer is highly unlikely to prevail and we know that the consequences for the person and his or her family can be tragic and even deadly.

I am grateful to all the lawyers who volunteer their time and talents to support this work and to our nonprofit partners whose good work is documented in this directory. I want to express my special appreciation to Diane Vu of our Office of Community Partnerships who has organized and staffed our providers network and prepared this directory and to Julie Peterson and the members and staff of the Bar Association of Montgomery County.

To my fellow lawyers, I urge you to join us in the critical work. Please visit the Pro Bono Resource Center of Maryland (www.probonomd.org/volunteer-opportunities) for an up-to-date list of pro bono opportunities, trainings and events.

Sincerely,

Isiah Leggett
County Executive

Asian Pacific American Legal Resource Center

Description: The mission of the Asian Pacific American Legal Resource Center (APALRC) is to advance the civil and legal rights of Asian Americans by focusing on providing linguistically accessible and culturally appropriate legal services to low-income Asian immigrants who have limited English proficiency in the D.C. metropolitan area. The goal is to ensure that Asian Americans can access government services and the legal system to protect and enforce their rights, and to seek full participation in American society. The APALRC seeks to accomplish this mission through a three-prong strategy that combines community legal education, individual representation, and systemic advocacy.

Capital Area Immigrants' Rights Coalition

Description: CAIR Coalition is the only non-profit organization in the Washington, D.C. area with a legal services program focused exclusively on assisting immigrants detained by Immigration and Customs Enforcement in local jails in Virginia and Maryland, and CAIR Coalition also assists unaccompanied immigrant children being held in the custody of the Office of Refugee Resettlement in Virginia. Detained immigrants served by CAIR Coalition include: long term residents of the United States; asylum seekers, many of whom are survivors of torture; women who are pregnant or have just given birth; and individuals who are seriously physically or mentally ill. The children we serve include those fleeing drug and gang violence, as well as those who have been the victims of domestic abuse in their home countries. CAIR Coalition partners with over 30 D.C. area law firms that provide thousands of hours of free legal assistance to immigrants being held in local jails in Virginia and Maryland. These pro bono partnerships are vital to CAIR Coalition's ability to serve the hundreds of immigrants who are detained in Immigration and Customs Enforcement custody each month. The mission of CAIR Coalition is to serve as the primary source of legal assistance for detained immigrants (adults and children) in the D.C. metropolitan area and to strengthen and support the work of our Coalition members. CAIR Coalition works with community groups, pro bono attorneys, volunteers and immigrants from DC, Virginia and Maryland to ensure that all immigrants are treated with fairness, dignity and respect for their human and civil rights

Good Samaritan Advocates

Description: Good Samaritan Advocates (GSA) provides pro bono legal services through church-based clinics, held on Saturday mornings and staffed by volunteer attorneys and other trained volunteers. Each client receives an appointment of up to 1.5 hours with 2 to 3 trained volunteers, who have reviewed the client's materials and researched the legal issues involved.

Approximately 40 to 50% of client legal problems are resolved during the clinic. Clients whose legal issues are not fully resolved during the clinic are invited to gather more information and return to the clinic for further help. In some cases, GSA attorneys may offer to provide additional pro bono services following the Clinic. Clients requiring representation for a court proceeding or other extended representation may be referred to Maryland Legal Aid Bureau or to lawyers in our network who offer to provide pro bono or low bono legal representation for GSA clients.

Language Capacity: Spanish, French, Creole, Korean, Japanese

Eligibility: Clients who cannot afford Legal Services. GSA uses MLSC IOLTA client eligibility guidelines: 50% of the median family income for MD. See: <http://misc.org/wp-content/uploads/2010/08/2015-MLSC-incgud.pdf>

Human Rights First

Description: Human Rights First provides legal assistance to asylum seekers who are present in the United States and fear return to their home countries due to persecution on account of their race, religion, nationality, political opinion, or membership in a particular social group, or are afraid of being tortured in their home country. The Washington D.C. office serves asylum seekers who live in Virginia, Maryland, and Washington D.C. Our pro bono legal representation program matches volunteer attorneys with asylum-seekers who need legal assistance in their immigration cases, and would not otherwise be able to afford high-quality legal representation. If Human Rights First accepts your case, it will be assigned to pro bono attorneys who will represent you free of charge. Human Rights First will guide, train, and mentor your pro bono attorneys so that they will have our support throughout your case. We are also able to provide social work support to our clients.

Language Capacity: English, Spanish, French, Amharic, Tigrinya, Arabic, and all other languages as needed.

Eligibility: A fear of return to your home country based on persecution or torture, and inability to afford private legal counsel.

Intake: Asylum seekers interested in assistance should call us on the telephone at (202) 547-5692. You will be asked to leave a voicemail message with some basic information about your case, and then one of our legal staff will call you back for a screening of your case within two weeks. Kids in Need of Defense

Description: Kids in Need of Defense (KIND) serves as the leading organization for the protection of children who enter the U.S. immigration system alone and strives to ensure that no such child appears in immigration court without representation. We achieve fundamental fairness through high-quality legal representation and by advancing the child's best interests, safety, and well-being. KIND provides pro bono legal representation to unaccompanied immigrant and refugee children through both in-house representation as well as through pro bono attorneys whom KIND proactively recruits, trains and mentors.

Once a case is referred to KIND, staff conducts an intensive case intake with the child to ascertain their reasons for being in the U.S. and to identify forms of immigration relief for which the child may be eligible. KIND then places the case with either a KIND direct representation attorney or a pro bono attorney among our network of law firms, corporate legal departments and law school clinic partners. These volunteers are trained and closely mentored by KIND staff to ensure that each child receives the highest quality representation possible.

Language Capacity: English, Spanish

Eligibility: Only designated UACs are eligible for KIND services; referrals are accepted on a case-by-case basis.

Intake: Appointment required.

Consultation/Legal Fees: None

Maryland Office for Refugees and Asylees

Description: Maryland Office for Refugees and Asylees (MORA) provides support and services to federally-recognized refugees and political asylees to ease their integration into American society. MORA has helped more than 40,000 refugees make Maryland their home, aiding their transition from “displaced persons” to independent, contributing members of the national economy and the local community. We work through a network of public and private service providers, to plan, administer, and coordinate transitional services aimed at helping refugees become self-sufficient as quickly as possible. Key areas for aiding refugees in adjusting to American life include cultural orientation and career training.

MORA’s service providers instruct refugees on life skills, familiarizing them with such daily routines as how to shop at the supermarket, manage a budget, take public transportation, open a savings account, prepare for a job interview or call 911 for emergencies.

Eligibility: Refugees and Asylees that have been in the U.S. for under 5 years.

Served Counties: Statewide with a large focus on Baltimore County, Baltimore city, Howard County, Prince George’s County, and Montgomery County.

Torture Abolition and Survivors Support Coalition

Description: TASSC will provide the support you need most. TASSC provides different services for torture survivors including free legal representation for those who are seeking asylum, medical referrals, psychological evaluations for your asylum case, trauma therapy, employment related assistance, and other services. TASSC also has free housing for qualified survivors on a temporary basis, but there is now a wait list for this housing service. We primarily serve survivors from African countries, but have seen survivors from Latin America, Eastern Europe, and Asia.

Areas of Legal Assistance: Various immigration issues and more specifically asylum cases. We generally help torture survivors file application for asylum with the asylum office. However, we also take applicants who are in removal proceedings (defensive application) on a case-by-case basis. We provide complete service for asylum cases, meaning we help the survivor write a personal statement explaining the persecution they suffered, we offer recommendations for evidence to collect, we review evidence, we prepare the survivor for the asylum interview, and we go to the interview with the survivor.

Types of Legal Assistance: Preparation of asylum cases and representation of applicants.

Citizenship Initiative

Montgomery County has joined Cities for Citizenship, a coordinated naturalization event and communications outreach effort to encourage 1,000,000 eligible community members nationwide to naturalize this year. Cities for Citizenship is a national initiative aimed at increasing citizenship among eligible U.S. permanent residents and encouraging cities across the country to invest in citizenship programs.

Since late 2016 and early 2017, cities and counties across the country have seen a significant increase in the demand for naturalization. Recognizing the urgency of this moment and the positive impact of naturalization in our county, we have partnered with our amazing community nonprofits that are already doing tremendous work and ongoing efforts on Citizenship to join in a coordinated campaign to encourage and support naturalization in our county.

This county-wide initiative is aimed at reaching 60,000 residents in Montgomery County who are eligible to naturalize and will include ongoing collaboration with our partners, citizenship workshops around the county, developing 'citizenship corners' at various public/county facilities and community hubs, and Naturalization Ceremonies.

For a list of community partners providing assistance with citizenship applications, citizenship classes and workshops or for more information on Montgomery County's Citizenship Initiative, please visit the Gilchrist Center's website on citizenship at: www.montgomerycountymd.gov/gilchrist/citizenship
