

Rising Star Division Descriptions

Division	Description
Rising Star Boys Advanced Division	This is the highest level of basketball we offer. Teams in this division will typically have dozens of players from multiple areas and school districts trying out for the team. These teams are typically year-around AAU or YBOA teams that typically practice 2-3 times per week. These teams typically compete and show well in fall, spring, and summer tournaments. Players on these teams typically make basketball their top priority.
Rising Star Boys Intermediate Division	Teams in this division will typically hold tryouts for their team and may attract players from other areas and school districts. These teams typically practice 1-2 times per week and may play basketball beyond the winter season.
Rising Star Girls Division	Rising star girls will consist of one division. Girl's teams who participate in rising star will most likely hold tryouts, have players from multiple school districts, play in tournaments, hold practices 2-3 times a week, and may have multiple (but not all) girls who make basketball their TOP priority. Some teams may have a majority of players who make basketball a priority only in the winter but still hold tryouts, go to tournaments, and practice multiple times a week.

*League Director has the right to move teams to another division other than requested, adjust divisions or combine divisions or grade levels if deemed necessary.